Botox In the News –

The beauty industry is buzzing about Botox, the drug that can erase wrinkles by temporarily paralyzing facial muscles. Since Botox was awarded FDA approval, television and magazine ads, the news media, and general conversation are all embracing Botox. Because it presents dramatic results, has no side effects and is non-invasive, it is called the “Ideal Cosmetic Procedure.”

Utmost in importance is client satisfaction and we can confidently say our Botox clients are pleased with the results and the extra care they received at Kamala Aesthetics Medical and Laser Associates. We want to pass along some very important medical facts about Botox that you won't learn in the “Glamour” ads.

Botox Medical Facts –

The Allergan Corporation is the chief supplier of Botox. Allergan, Inc., headquartered in Irvine, California, is a global health care company providing eye care and specialty pharmaceutical products worldwide. Botox solution comes with 1) specific dilution instructions for maximum effect; 2) recommended treatment areas and placement protocols, and 3) recommended initial amounts of solution at each treatment location. Many providers of Botox injections do not follow these dictated directions. At Kamala Aesthetics Medical and Laser Associates we follow Allergan recommendations to the letter.

There are three specific locations for Botox injections – crows feet, glabellar furrows and forehead wrinkles. The solution will work effectively on wrinkles from the cheekbone up – it will not help sagging skin. Beware of ads stating Botox corrects anything other than these three areas.

Also take note of ads that may say for example, “Each treatment $125.” This would mean each injection site, not the entire process. It may also follow that the dilution ratio is less than recommended and the results will not last as long.

Botox Information –

Besides Botox making skin look younger and smoother, doctors say it's one of the most promising treatments for a variety of ailments. Studies have found that Botox may help ease migraines, reduce back pain, soothe facial tics and even ease symptoms of cerebral palsy. Recent studies have shown improvement in ‘hypo-hydrous’ or excessive under arm and palm sweating. In fact, it has been studied for the treatment of 25 different afflictions and, in many cases, has become the most effective therapy available. “The expansion of Botox use is staggering,” says Joseph Jankovic, M.D., director of the Movement Disorder Clinic at Baylor College of Medicine, in Houston.

What you need to know –

- A slight headache may persist for a few hours following injections
- A numbing cream may be requested to dull the prick from the needle
- Ice may be applied at the sites following the injections
- There will be a slight bump at the injection sites(s) for several hours
- It is important to remain erect for 2-4 hours following injections
- Treatments are equally effective on men and women
- Do not touch the injections site(s)

The positive effects and cost of Botox depend on several factors:

- The number of furrows
- The overall size of the area
- Personal muscular structure
- Personal genetic makeup
- Personal mannerisms – how much facial action occurs
